1. Introduction

- 1.1.1 This Policy sets out the obligations of Michael Oon Consulting (“the Company”) regarding data protection and the rights of our stakeholders (“data subjects”) in respect of their personal data under the General Data Protection Regulation (“the Regulation”).
- 1.1.2 The Regulation defines “personal data” as any information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person (a data subject); an identifiable natural person is one who can be identified, directly or indirectly, in particular by reference to an identifier such as a name, an identification number, location data, an online identifier, or to one or more factors specific to the physical, physiological, genetic, mental, economic, cultural, or social identity of that natural person.
- 1.1.3 This Policy sets out the procedures that are to be followed when dealing with personal data. The procedures and principles set out herein must be followed at all times by the Company, its employees, agents, contractors, or other parties working on behalf of the Company.
- 1.1.4 The Company is committed not only to the letter of the law, but also to the spirit of the law and places high importance on the correct, lawful, and fair handling of all personal data, respecting the legal rights, privacy, and trust of all individuals with whom it deals.
- 1.1.5
- 1.1.6 The Data Protection Principles
- 1.1.7 This Policy aims to ensure compliance with the Regulation. The Regulation sets out the following principles with which any party handling personal data must comply. All personal data must be:
 - 1.1.8 processed lawfully, fairly, and in a transparent manner in relation to the data subject;
 - 1.1.9 collected for specified, explicit, and legitimate purposes and not further processed in a manner that is incompatible with those purposes; further processing for archiving purposes in the public interest, scientific or historical research purposes or statistical purposes shall not be considered to be incompatible with the initial purposes;
 - 1.1.10 adequate, relevant and limited to what is necessary in relation to the purposes for which it is processed;
 - 1.1.11 accurate and, where necessary, kept up to date; every reasonable step must be taken to ensure that personal data that is inaccurate, having regard to the purposes for which they are processed, is erased or rectified without delay;
 - 1.1.12 kept in a form which permits identification of data subjects for no longer than is necessary for the purposes for which the personal data is processed; personal data may be stored for longer periods insofar as the personal data will be processed solely for archiving purposes in the public interest, scientific or historical research purposes or statistical purposes subject to implementation of the appropriate technical and

- organisational measures required by the Regulation in order to safeguard the rights and freedoms of the data subject;
- 1.1.13 processed in a manner that ensures appropriate security of the personal data, including protection against unauthorised or unlawful processing and against accidental loss, destruction or damage, using appropriate technical or organisational measures.
- 1.1.14
- 1.1.15 Lawful, Fair, and Transparent Data Processing
- 1.1.16 The Regulation seeks to ensure that personal data is processed lawfully, fairly, and transparently, without adversely affecting the rights of the data subject. The Regulation states that processing of personal data shall be lawful if at least one of the following applies:
- 1.1.17 the data subject has given consent to the processing of his or her personal data for one or more specific purposes;
- 1.1.18 processing is necessary for the performance of a contract to which the data subject is a party or in order to take steps at the request of the data subject prior to entering into a contract;
- 1.1.19 processing is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation to which the controller is subject;
- 1.1.20 processing is necessary to protect the vital interests of the data subject or of another natural person;
- 1.1.21 processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the controller;
- 1.1.22 processing is necessary for the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by the controller or by a third party, except where such interests are overridden by the fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject which require protection of personal data, in particular where the data subject is a child.
- 1.1.23
- 1.1.24 Processed for Specified, Explicit and Legitimate Purposes
- 1.1.25 The Company collects and processes the personal data set out in Part 21 of this Policy. This may include personal data received directly from data subjects (for example, contact details used when a data subject communicates with us) and data received from third parties.

1.1.220 Data protection has long played key role in business, and with the entry into force in May 2018 of the GDPR, it is set to become even more important. The GDPR expands on the current regime established by the Data Protection Act 1998, setting out a number of important principles governing how personal data is collected, held, and processed by organisations.

1.1.221

1.1.222 This Data Protection Policy sets out the rights of data subjects and the obligations of a business as a data controller under the GDPR, laying down a number of organisational and procedural measures to help ensure compliance.

1.1.223

1.1.224 Detail in this Data Protection Policy is extensive, aiming to reproduce key parts of the GDPR so as to aid in the establishment of knowledge and understanding throughout the business. Despite this, however, it should be noted that training remains essential and that any and all individuals handling personal data within our business should be fully aware of the Regulation and its principles as well as the procedures in place within our business to comply therewith.
